

S2data

WE OPTIMIZE YOUR BUSINESS

Our S2data platform is a software solution for automating and optimizing operational planning tasks in transport, production and warehouse management

Billions of euros of potential are lost every year in operational planning because companies do not use optimization algorithms to improve their daily planning. Our optimization platform is a plugin in ERP or supply chain management software and optimizes operational planning for transportation, production and inventory planning with one click. It is the unique tool on the market that integrates all these issues along the supply chain with a clear focus on operational planning, quickly adapts to existing business processes and delivers robust solutions based on cutting-edge research in robust optimization. The platform is offered as Software & Algorithms in the cloud.
